

MANY ARE INJURED IN CAPITAL STREETS

Unidentified Man Believed to Be Dying From Hurts in Street Car Accident.

One man was fatally hurt and several others persons were injured in traffic accidents this morning and last night.

Struck by a westbound Capital Traction car at Third street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, an unidentified man about fifty years old is believed today to be dying in the Emergency Hospital. He attempted to cross in front of the car.

There were no papers in the man's pockets to give any clue to his identity. He is about five feet six inches tall, weighs 140 pounds, with gray hair and mustache, heavy dark eyebrows, and dark skin. He was dressed in ragged clothes.

Three persons were injured when a Washington, Baltimore, and Annapolis line car near Chesapeake Junction, Md., was cut by flying glass and badly shaken up, but all declined hospital treatment and went to their homes unassisted.

Miss Irene Carroll, of 122 East Capitol street, was struck at Ninth street and New York avenue northwest by an automobile driven by J. L. Rose, of 1077 Ninth street northeast. She was knocked down, but not badly hurt.

W. W. Price, a newspaper man, narrowly escaped injury when his automobile collided with a Capital Traction car at Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue.

Several gallons of milk were spilled in Pennsylvania avenue this morning when a Capital Traction car struck a milk wagon driven by John Carey, of 170 Third street northwest.

No. 3 fire engine, responding to an alarm for fire in an automobile at North Capitol and Pierce streets, skidded in making the turn at North Capitol and H streets and crashed into a lamp post.

An Adams Express Company automobile was damaged $50 in a collision with a Terminal taxicab at Second and B streets northwest. Drivers of both vehicles escaped injury.

MISS LATHROP GOES UPON SPEAKING TRIP

Head of Children's Bureau to Discuss Work at Many Points in the South.

In spite of the fact that a determined effort is being made by Mrs. Wickliffe, widow of the Louisiana Congressman, to get her job, Miss Julia Lathrop, head of the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor, has left the city for a ten day speaking trip through the South.

Today Miss Lathrop speaks in Jacksonville at the ninth annual conference of the national child labor committee. Last evening she was heard in Charleston, S. C., at a meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Next week Miss Lathrop will speak at Greenwood, Miss., at a child labor conference called by Mrs. Lizzie George Henderson, former president general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. Following that, Miss Lathrop goes to Knoxville, Tenn., to address the members of the Oseola Circle.

Miss Lathrop will talk of the work of the Children's Bureau in all her addresses.

Fights Hat Liability.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Leon C. Riggs, restaurateur, has appealed from the decision of a court which held that proprietors of restaurants and hotels were responsible for lost hats and hats checked in their places.

WOMEN DENY THEY CAUSED POLICE QUIZ

Speaker's Wife Reads Original Poems at Meeting Held by the Equality League.

Subscriptions amounting to $200.00 for assisting the cause of woman's suffrage in Michigan were quickly raised at the meeting of the Federal Woman's Equality League at the New Ebbitt yesterday, and "the cause" received enthusiastic impetus from speakers well known for their efforts in the suffrage movement.

Unqualified denial that the Congressional investigation of alleged police inefficiency during the woman's pageant here March 3 had been started by suffrage leaders, was made. A feature of the entertainment was the reading of an original poem by Mrs. Champ Clark. The poem was taken from her "Christmas on Board the Panama" and depicted the work of the friends of suffrage, touched on the newspapers, offered a paragraph to former Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson, to Associate Justice Hughes, of the United States Supreme Court, and to John Hay Hammond for his gift of $100 for "the cause."

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Clara W. McNaughton. The speakers were Mrs. Helena Hill Weed of Norwalk, Conn.; Senator Thomas, and Mrs. Champ Clark.

Mrs. Weed spoke especially of the "police action of March 3," declaring that it "demonstrated what women have been preaching for years—namely, that they cannot depend on chivalry and indirect influence for protection."

"There is no sense in the argument that the police did their duty, nay, that because women are not fitted for police duty they should not have the ballot," an earnestness of purpose and a show of authority will do more for peace and good order than brute force. She declared the women would not have been treated as they were if they had been representing the Associated Charities, and that the events took place because they were parading for a political principle.

Senator Thomas said he did not believe that the granting of suffrage to women would improve social and economic conditions, but he declared that the ballot should be given to women because of their right to it.

Army Aviators Hurt.

RHEIMS, March 14.—Two army aviators were injured, when their aeroplanes collided with another during the maneuvers of five military planes.

SOCIETY WOMEN

Some Spend Hundreds of Dollars a Year on Their Hair.

Leaders of society in New York know the social value of attractive hair, and according to a metropolitan newspaper every society woman spends a great deal of money to keep her hair beautiful and resplendent.

These women employ highly paid hair dressers and specialists, and so long as they have the money to gratify their desire for beautiful hair, none should complain.

But what about the thousands upon thousands of women just as intelligent, just as refined, and just as lovable as any society women, who have not the means for expert hair dressers and specialists?

What are they to do?

Are they not entitled to beautiful, lustrous and luxuriant hair?

Most assuredly they are, and thousands of them are. Lizzie George Henderson, former president general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, following that, Miss Lathrop goes to Knoxville, Tenn., to address the members of the Oseola Circle.

Miss Lathrop will talk of the work of the Children's Bureau in all her addresses.
